

LYMAN TRUMBULL.
No man in Illinois has said more bitter things about the Democratic party than Lyman Trumbull, as witness the following sweet morsel:
The Democratic party has never yet done an act that would commend it to the favorable consideration of the people of the United States, but on the contrary its traditions and its acts are now, and ever have been, a standing menace to the progress and civilization of the nineteenth century.
When he was begging the Cincinnati nomination in 1872, he desired and expected the bulk of the Republican party to join the Liberals, and he then said, speaking of the approaching convention:
The Democrats must be absolutely excluded; their suggestions must not be heeded; their wishes must not be considered. They are a body of men, mostly traitors, who can not be made useful for any purpose. The Cincinnati meeting must be distinctively a conference of Republicans; it must nominate for a candidate a distinctly Republican—one who has been prominently identified with Republican policies and measures. Democrats must stand aloof; they must be ignored and spurned.
In 1870 he used the following language:
The war is over. The contest is done. Now what political organization will be safest for the American people? Hereafter to whom shall we look? Shall we look to that party that brought upon this government the civil war? The ship of state ten years ago, was crippled. It had been run upon the quicksand and rocks and was falling to pieces. The Republican party took possession of her. They have been sailing her for the last ten years, not only over the boisterous waves of political commotion, but through the terrible tornadoes of civil war; and they have brought the noble old ship upon a peaceful ocean strengthened in all her parts, magnificent in all her proportions; and there she now rides in peace and prosperity.
In a speech at Evanston, Mr. Trumbull said:
The object of this is to exclude leading rebels from office, and to place the control of the insurrectionary states in loyal hands. Who but a rebel, and a leading rebel, at that, can object to this proposition? Justice would that these leading rebels should be stripped of every right, and it is through mercy alone that they are permitted to live. Instead of being grateful for the clemency shown them, these are men who have forfeited every right, and yet have the assurance to demand a right to govern! Could impudence go further?
By the way don't let it be forgotten that the Democratic party increased the public expenditures at the rate of over $8,000,000 a year, or $11,000,000 in five years. You want to vote to change that.
CLARK & MAYNARD, publishers, sent a copy of a school book to the state superintendent of education of Louisiana, who returned it because of its "National" teachings. He said:
"I have examined it with much care, and while there is much to admire in its beautiful and attractive dress, and typographical neatness and accuracy, in its clear and perspicuous as well as condensed statements, yet it contains many statements which are not borne out by a strict construction of the constitution of the United States; and the heresy now so popular in some sections, that this is a nation, is one that I, at least, am unwilling to be taught the children of Louisiana, for it is not true, if the early fathers of the constitution knew whereof they affirmed. I regret that any such sectional idea (perhaps I should say 'national idea') should pervade the book. I regret I cannot introduce it into the schools of Louisiana, for with this exception I like it. Very respectfully,
"EDWIN H. FAY, A. M.,
"State Sup't. of Public Education."
Of course this state official who has the educational matters of the state of Louisiana in his hands, is a democrat. None but democrats believe that the doctrine that this is a nation is a heresy.

Credit When it is Due.
There has been complaint made that the republican press never give the democrats credit for anything. The New York Commercial Advertiser generously gives them credit for the following:
They predicted that secession would be peaceable.
They predicted that the states would not respond to President Lincoln's call for militia.
They predicted that the militia would refuse to cross the Potomac and invade Virginia.
They predicted that money could not be raised to support the army. And the people filled the treasury.
They predicted that the people would not take the greenback.
They predicted that the greenback dollar would be as worthless as rags.
They predicted that the grass would grow in the streets of New York.
They predicted that England and France would form an alliance with the south to secure cotton.
They predicted that a "poverty-stricken people in the north would compel the government to terminate the war."
They predicted that Grant could not capture Richmond.
They predicted that the war for the Union would be a failure.
They predicted that the confederates would never be overthrown.
They predicted that the people would never consent to emancipation.
They predicted that the people would never ratify the amendments to the constitution.
They predicted that the free negroes would become a race of paupers.
They predicted that people would never permit black men at the ballot-box.
They predicted that the war would terminate in a vast standing army and a military dictator.
They predicted that the child would be unborn who would live to see gold or silver restored to the currency of the country.
They predicted that the interest on the vast public debt could never be paid.
They predicted that specie payments would not be resumed on the first of January, 1879.
They predicted that the resumption of specie payments would bring universal disaster and ruin upon the business and industries of the country.

Eds. REPUBLICAN: For the last year my eldest son has been under the surgical treatment of Doctors Cheworth, of Decatur, and Dempsey, of Warrensburg, for curvature of the spine. The result is favorable beyond all reasonable expectations. The boy, instead of being disfigured, bids fair to give little evidence of his misfortune further than a slight diminution of stature. Such services are beyond pecuniary estimate. As his father, I acknowledge my obligation to these gentlemen for their skillful and efficient treatment of the case. I am indeed happy over the result and grateful for their kindness.

Not an organ or an orator of the Democracy has dared to deny the fact that that party holds six Republican States in the South by fraud and violence, and that were it not for the most shameless bulldozing and ballot-box stuffing in those States, it would have no more prospect of electing the next President than it has of carrying Iowa.—New York Tribune.
What Conking Says.
The following is from an interview with Senator Conking by a Cincinnati reporter:
"Do you regard New York as the battle-field?"
"Altogether as such. It cannot matter how Ohio and Indiana may go. After next week the severest part of the battle will be fought in New York, and the party which wins that State will win the fight. New York not only occupies that position of importance now, but it is the State which in future contests for many years probably will have equal consequence. It cannot be thrown away; its wishes cannot be ignored if the Republican party is to retain its supremacy."

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 11.—Within the past few days the interest in the election of to-morrow has continued to increase, and it is now literally at fever heat, being altogether without precedent. Everybody realizes the importance of the contest, and business is practically suspended, it being impossible to think of anything but the election. Never before since 1868 and 1864 has there been such a canvass as that which has now closed, and the republicans have left nothing undone to win a victory in this democratic state. Their campaign has been skillfully managed, with a zeal, energy and determination never before excelled, and the manner in which the popular tide has within the past few days turned in their favor has rendered a republican victory assured with a fair election. That they are determined to secure this has become more and more evident every day. The general feeling among the leaders and masses of the party can be best expressed by quoting the words of warning uttered by the Journal of this city as follows:
We desire to say so plainly that no one can mistake what we mean, that the republicans of this city propose to have a full, free, and fair election next Tuesday. That will be secured at every hazard. Every sounder attempting to debauch the ballot box in any way, or endeavoring to intimidate legal voters or prevent them from voting, will be at once arrested and taken before the United States Court. That tribunal will enforce the laws. The ruffians, shoulder-bitters, repeaters, and ballot box stuffers now here in the interest of the democracy had better accept this as a word of warning.
The Journal this morning exposed a revolutionary scheme of the democratic managers to get up a riot, and then have Gov. Williams supply the numerous desperadoes in the city with state arms on the pretense of suppressing the alleged riot. This exposure occasioned great excitement here, and prominent citizens, without regard to party, are thoroughly aroused to the necessity of making determined efforts to preserve the peace to-morrow. There will no doubt be more or less trouble in different parts of the state. This must be expected when the passions of men on both sides have been aroused as they have been during the past few days. But the determination manifested by the prominent business men of both parties to see that the peace is preserved to-morrow has had a wholesome effect. The meeting of citizens held this morning to consider this question was attended by both republicans and democrats in about equal numbers. Mr. English was present, and pledged himself to do all he could to maintain law and order. Resolutions were adopted demanding that the officers enforce the law strictly, and promising them the aid of the citizens. This meeting has had a good effect, and although the city and state are full of secondaries imported by the democrats for the purpose of repeating, and intimidating and obstructing honest voters, the pronounced sentiment of the public against such tactics, and the arrangements made by the republican committees and the United States Marshal, will, in a great measure prevent the accomplishment of the contemplated frauds, and secure a peaceful and fair election, and an honest count.
In this city twenty-five deputy marshals and thirty picked men from the republican ranks will be placed at each polling place to maintain order, and no disturbance is now apprehended, although for some days past the aspect of affairs has been very threatening.
The democrats to-night still claim Landers' election by 7,000 majority, the election of eight out of thirteen congressmen and a majority of the legislature, but their confidence has been visibly decreasing for several days, and it is not believed that they have much hope of electing Landers. On the other hand, the confidence and aggressiveness of the republicans seems to increase almost hourly, and they evidently count upon winning to-morrow. From all that can be learned from the best posted politicians here, it seems safe to predict that Porter will have a plurality at least as large as that of the democrats four years ago, and this will certainly be glory enough for one day.
New York, Oct. 11.—The parade of the Boys in Blue and kindred Republican Associations to-night, in honor of Gen. Grant, was a brilliant and imposing spectacle. The feature of this demonstration was the number of business men and employes in line. The associations in this city parading were many in number and strong in membership. They were reinforced by visiting members from a distance of 50 miles in every direction. Brooklyn sent a very large representation of political clubs, and New Jersey, Staten Island, Long Island, Hudson River towns and those on the line of the Harlem railroad were scarcely behind. Every man carried a torch or lantern. Those who had direction of the procession made provision for the great numbers who participated, and all found their designated place to form on preparation to march. Special trains were run from points 100 miles out of town, and each was crowded with people. Political headquarters, hotels, business houses and residences were illuminated, while every window and stoop and vantage ground from which could be had a view of the parade, was filled with people. General Grant, leaning upon the arm of Gen. Arthur, at 10:55, stepped upon the reviewing stand, where representative Republicans had already gathered. Both gentlemen were enthusiastically cheered. At 11:30 half of the procession passed the reviewing stand. It is estimated that there were between 40,000 and 50,000 men in the line of march.

A NOTABLE EVENT.

Celebration of the "Silver Wedding" of Colonel and Mrs. H. W. Rowell at Priest's Hotel Last Night—Numerous Gifts and a Grand Banquet.

Twenty-five years ago, yesterday, Mr. Henry W. Rowell and Miss Abigail B. Taylor, were joined together in marriage at Springfield, Vermont, and last evening their "silver wedding" was appropriately celebrated at Priest's Hotel, which was brilliantly illuminated in honor of the event. The affair was a surprise and arranged by Ex-Mayor Priest as a surprise for the Colonel and his wife, and such it proved to be, notwithstanding the fact that verbal and neatly written invitations were extended to over 200 of the representative families of Decatur, fully 150 of whom were in attendance, letters of regret being received from those unable to attend on account of other engagements. By previous arrangement Colonel and Mrs. Rowell were invited to take tea with Mr. and Mrs. Priest at the hotel, and while this part of the programme was being carried out quietly, the surprise party assembled at the tabernacle, from which place at the appointed time they proceeded in a body to the spacious parlors of the hotel, where the gentlemen and lady in whose honor the bewitching invasion was made, were seated quietly conversing with friends, and totally unaware of the visitation of so many families, until they were "all surrounded" and taken completely by surprise. The names which followed were one of the liveliest characters, and hearty congratulations were showered upon the Colonel and lady most generously, after which pleasant exercises all engaged in social chat for perhaps one hour, at the expiration of which time the doors of the banquet hall were thrown open, and the guests were invited to enter and partake of the

"SILVER WEDDING" FEAST.

The tables in the spacious and brilliantly lighted hall, groined beneath the weight of the sumptuous repast which loaded them, and just 163 guests partook of the feast, which included all the obtainable delicacies of the season. Before the attack on the tables was made, Rev. D. P. Dunn, as spokesman for the party, disclosed an additional surprise for the Colonel and his wife, and in a neat speech, presented them with the following gifts from their many friends, which covered a table in the center of the banquet hall:

An elegant silver cake basket, from the members of Stapp's Chapel.

Handsome malajolia pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. A. Heeme.

Pair of heavy silver napkin rings, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Bartholomew.

Silver butter dish, Mrs. R. N. Baker, Mrs. J. G. Starr, Mrs. P. Smith, Mrs. L. Hausher and Miss Emma Williams.

Full set of silver knives and forks, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Murphy.

Pickled oyster, Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Bridgman, Mr. Zion.

Handsome silver butter knife, Mrs. Frank Frost.

Beautiful malajolia pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Heydon.

Very pretty silver pickle canister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Letourge.

Set of silver table spoons, Mrs. E. S. Roe.

Pair of elegant silver napkin rings, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Wood.

Silver pickle fork, Mrs. John Ebert.

Sack containing a generous contribution of silverware.

BOYS IN BLUE.

The Boys in Blue and the Boys' Garfield and Arthur Club, will meet at the court house to-night at seven o'clock for escort duty.

By order of the Captain.

WILL D. EATON'S "All the Rage" 4 act farcical comedy, was presented to a delighted audience of fair proportions at the opera house last night. There is not much depth to the ridiculous plot, but the rendition was excruciatingly funny, and goes off with a rush. The play is in the hands of finished artists, and for a light comedy cannot fail to please all who witness the performance. Dr. Goodwin, the corn-doctor, was in his element and caused most of the trouble.

NEWS FROM SPRINGFIELD.

News was received from Springfield to-day announcing the sudden death of Mr. Thomas Conde, who in 1843 established a dry goods house in Decatur. Deceased died in Kansas on the 11th inst., at the ripe age of 73 years. He is the oldest brother of Mr. W. J. Conde, of this city, and of late years was engaged in the stock business. His body will arrive at Springfield to-morrow.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Hon. A. B. Dunn will address a Republican mass meeting at Bement to-night.

Hon. Lyman Trumbull arrived in the city this forenoon from the north, and registered at Priest's Hotel.

Mrs. Lyman King, who has been absent for the past year, arrived in Decatur last night from Des Moines, Iowa.

S. D. Lileston, of Lexington, Mo., formerly a resident of Decatur for many years, is now in the city greeting his numerous friends.

Charles Newell, late of the Midland Junction office, is the telegraphic operator at the wheat and corn exchange room at Priest's hotel.

Rev. W. W. Knapp has been appointed presiding elder of the United Brethren Church for the Decatur district, in place of Rev. L. Field, who is now presiding elder of the Lexington district. Rev. F. R. Lord is the name of the new pastor of the U. B. Church in this city.

ENTERPRISE.

No trade has been established in our city or in the west that has been more vigorously pushed or more honorably conducted than that under the management of J. A. Miller. His trade in wrapping, writing, building, print papers, stationers' goods and twines is doubling every month and now extends throughout the state, while his supply of rags, paper stock and scrap iron is drawn from a wide range of territory, and with the railroad shipping facilities at his command and the most convenient ware house in the country, (in this line of trade), he can certainly hold and increase his now large business, and is justly entitled to the entire patronage of this city.

LATE PRISONERS OF WAR.

Their Notable Reunion on the 6th and 7th—Full List of Those in Attendance—Vice Presidents Appointed and Resolutions Adopted.

As heretofore stated the surviving boys who were the blue during the late war and fought for the preservation of the Union, and were prisoners of war during the rebellion, held a reunion in Decatur in connection with the soldiers' love-feast given under the auspices of the Macon County Veteran Association, in conjunction with the 21st Ill. Vol. This gathering of ex-prisoners was the largest meeting of the kind that has been held in this state, and gave unbounded satisfaction to those in attendance, as they grasped each other by the hand and looked each other in the face, (many of them for the first time for sixteen years) with moistening eye and quivering lip, each seeming to realize what the other had suffered, both before and since the last parting at the gate of the prison pens of the rebels. And as they gathered in little groups and talked with a low, trembling voice of those they had parted with, whose bones were carried out to be hidden from the sight of their inhuman keepers, the tears would unbidden start, and their minds seemed so carried back to the scenes of their mutual suffering, that they could hardly realize they were in "God's Country."
